COMMONWEALTH GAMES INVOLVEMENT SURVEY

The Commonwealth Games have now been over for three months, and there has been time to reflect their impact upon Edmonton and, in particular, the University. The University of Alberta was a major contributor to the Games' success, and the Office of Community Relations would like to take this opportunity to collect and record the University community's experience with what is undoubtedly a unique circumstance in the history of this institution. We would appreciate your completing and returning the questionnaire on page three of this issue of Folio to the Office of Community Relations, 423 Athabasca Hall. Thank you for your time and effort.

OMBUDSMAN INSTITUTE ATTRACTS INTERNATIONAL MEMBERSHIP

The University's Law Centre is also the centre for the first International Ombudsman Institute. The affiliation began on 12 May 1977, when, at a meeting in Paris, the International Ombudsman Steering Committee under the chairmanship of Randall Ivany, Alberta Ombudsman, approved the establishment of the Institute at this University. Since that time, the proverbial drawing board has been put to use as have portions of the initial funding supplied by the Alberta Law Foundation. The first full-scale meeting of the Institute's Board of Directors was held last month and the Institute is now beginning to assert itself as a service and research entity.

The purpose of the Institute, said Peter Freeman, Law Librarian, Professor of Law, and a member of the Board, is to respond to requests for information and to initiate its own research. The Institute will publish its first newsletter on 1 November and it will be distributed to about five hundred readers. By means of the quarterly newsletter, descriptions in various periodicals, and word of mouth promotion, the Institute will seek to increase its visibility and attract more associate members. Interested persons can obtain membership by contacting the Institute which is located in W-106 Law Centre, telephone 432-5560.

The Board of Directors of the International Ombudsman Institute conducted its International meeting on campus 20, 21, and 22 September. The University's Law Centre is headquarters for the Institute. Organization and planning matters were discussed by the Board. Pictured above (seated, left to right) are: Mrs. J. Vontobel; Baroness Serota, London, England; Oliver F. Dixon, Perth, Western Australia; Mr. Justice Moti Tikaram, Suva, Fiji; and Dr. J. Vontobel, Zurich, Switzerland. Standing, (left to right) are: Ulf Lundvik, Stockholm, Sweden; Dr. Randall Ivany, Edmonton; Dean Frank Jones, Faculty of Law; Dr. Bernard Frank, Allentown, Pennsylvania; Judge Joseph E. Berube, Fredericton, New Brunswick; Paul Woods of Dr. Ivany's Office; Professor Peter Freeman, Law Librarian of this University; and Ted Greenland, also of Dr. Ivany's Office. Dr. Myer Horowitz, Vice-president (Academic), University of Alberta, is also a member of the Board.

At the present time, the Institute is involved in publishing the proceedings of the Ombudsman Committee of the International Bar Association Meeting held in Sydney, Australia, last month, and in computerizing a bibliography. The Institute also has an Ombudsman-in-residence program, and the first resident consultant was Sir Guy Powles, former Chief Ombudsman for New Zealand.

The Institute is governed by a Board of Directors consisting of representatives from the University, the Faculty of Law, the Canadian Legislative Ombudsmen, the International Ombudsman Steering Committee, and other ombudsmen.

The objects of the Institute are: to promote the concept of ombudsmen throughout the world; to encourage and support research and study into the office of the ombudsman; to develop and operate educational programs for ombudsmen, their staff, and other interested people; to collect, store, and disseminate information and research data about the Ombudsman Institute; to develop and operate programs enabling an exchange of information and experience between ombudsmen throughout the world; and, finally, to provide scholarships, fellowships, grants, and other types of financial support to individuals engaged in studying the institution of the ombudsman.

THE GREAT DEBATE

At noon on Tuesday, 31 October, the Students' Union President, Cheryl Hume, and the Chairman of the University's Board of Governors, John Schlosser, will engage in a debate, open to the public, in SUB Theatre.

The two participants will lock horns over a statement which, it is alleged, Mr. Schlosser made earlier in the year; namely "that students should refrain from active public opposition to cut-backs." According to a report in the students' newspaper, Gateway (17 October), the Committee to Oppose Tuition Increases and Cutbacks (COTIAC), which extended the invitation to Mr. Schlosser, has also arranged a "week of action" at the end of October. During that week, in addition to the debate, a rally will be held in the Central Quad, a forum will take place with provincial party leaders, and John Tusyk, President of the National Union of Students, will make an appearance on campus.

It is recommended that anyone wishing to attend what promises to be a lively and spirited exchange should arrive at the venue well before the appointed hour.

SEARCH FOR A PRESIDENT PROGRESS REPORT

The following information has been received from John Nicol, Secretary to the Governors.

At its last meeting the Search Committee for a President reviewed the nominations and applications received so far, and they agreed to eliminate a number of them from further consideration. Those people affected are now being informed of the decisions. The Committee, however, expects that further nominations and applications will still be received, and the Committee is prepared to consider them.

Colloquy

"Colloquy" is a column devoted to the free expression of opinions held by members of the University community. The criteria for the use of this space are simple. Submissions must be no longer than 1,000 words in length, and they must be typed and double spaced. Submissions must deal with issues that are of general interest to the University community, and they should be signed. While Folio is the official newsletter of the University of Alberta, the opinions expressed in "Colloquy" will not necessarily reflect University policy or the opinions of the Editor. Submissions should be sent to Colloquy, Office of Community Relations, 423 Athabasca Hall. Submissions will not be returned, and the Editor cannot guarantee publication.

(In the 5 October edition of Folio we gave notice of "Colloquy." Since that time we have received no communications from you to insert into the column. The space, however, is still available).

PUBLICATIONS

Notices of publications by academic staff, non-academic staff, and students in the current academic year should be sent to Publications Column, 423 Athabasca Hall.

THE EGG AND YOU

The following brief article by Don W. McAdam, PEng, published in The BC Professional Engineer, was later reprinted in The Metric Reporter.

Metric conversion is full of "chicken and egg" situations and Canada's poultry industry is no exception. The poultry industry expects to be essentially metric by 1980 but is faced with what to convert first, the chicken or the egg. The implementation phase is fairly long, because, although no amendments to legislation are required, considerable time will be needed to convert the chickens. After 1980 it is expected that most hens will be converted and non-metric hens will be phased out.

Many industries are taking this opportunity to rationalize product lines and streamline production and the poultry industry is no exception. As an industry spokesman said "We don't want to be caught with egg on our face." Production methods are being completely redesigned and the new metric hen will lay metric sized eggs. Two egg designs have been proposed. The packaging industry would like a cubic egg about 50 x 25 x 25 mm. This design would make packaging much easier. The new egg carton would be a simple box. Consumer acceptance of the cubic egg may be a problem. As a result, an egg more closely resembling the imperial egg has been proposed. It would be in the form of a truncated cone, about 50 mm long. The cubic egg is preferred, because it will not roll off the table and it is easier to package.

An internal device similar to an IUD will be used to produce cubic and conical eggs. It will be known as an SI UD.

Naturally, metric eggs will be sold by the metric dozen—ten eggs per carton.

The question of hard or soft conversion has not been completely resolved but it is likely to be consumer preference. Soft conversion is easier and takes 3-5 minutes per egg. Hard conversion takes longer depending on how hard you like them.

Meat producers are also pressing for a redesigned chicken. Since chickens don't fly they don't need wings. Colonel Sanders and his boys have proposed a redesigned chicken with wings replaced by legs. The redesigned metric chicken will have four legs and no wings, thus giving four drumsticks per bird. Turkey producers are also expected to redesign the turkey in an effort to reduce arguments about who gets the leg at Christmas.

The Metric Reporter followed the article with a shorter and more serious note:

Eggs are graded and packed in grading stations and are sold on the basis of numerical count within grade limits. The effect of metric conversion on the grading system of eggs is minimal, and requires only that grading scales be adjusted, and packages marked according to the new grade sizes adopted. The conversion of egg grading is expected to take place in 1979.

Sector 61.03, Poultry, will essentially complete its metric conversion program by 1980—and within the national Program of Guideline Dates for Metric Conversion.

■ J. William Lown, Professor of Chemistry, presented an invited lecture entitled "The molecular mechanism of antitumor action in the Mitomycins" at a symposium sponsored by the Northern California Cancer Program in San Francisco on 20 and 21 September.

■ Sharon G. Brintnell, Acting Chairman, Department of Occupational Therapy, was guest speaker at the Atlantic Provinces Occupational Therapy Conference held this year in Charlottetown. The address, "Clinical education: are there mutual benefits for clinician and student?" was given on 23 September. While in eastern Canada she also addressed a meeting of the Toronto Branch of the Ontario Society of Occupational Therapists on 28 September. The topic of the address was "The mandate of the professional association."

■ L.A. Kosinski, Professor of Geography, was invited to two international symposia in Latin America. The symposium on population redistribution, organized in Santiago, Chile, by the Latin American Center of Demographic Studies, was part of the international program for cooperation funded by the Canadian International Development Agency. The symposium on internal migration in Cuernavaca, Mexico, was sponsored by UNESCO.

■ J.R. Royce, Director, and A. Powell, Research Associate, of the Center for Advanced Study in Theoretical Psychology, presented a paper entitled "The search for personal meaning: personality, worldview, and life style" at the Thirteenth Annual Conference of the Canadian Addictions Foundation from 24 to 29 September in Calgary. Dr. Royce also presented a paper entitled "The gene-factor model" at the NATO Advanced Study Institute held in the Banff Centre, Banff. Dr. Royce was the Director of this Institute.

■ Yar Slavutych of the Department of Slavic Languages was recently honored, on the occasion of his sixtieth birthday, by The Poetry of Yar Slavutych, a symposium compiled by W.T. Zyla of Texas University at Lubock. The book, published by the Jubilee Committee in care of the Shevchenko Scientific Society in Canada, has thirty articles written in Ukrainian, English, French, and German.

■ Juliet McMaster, Professor of English, recently delivered a paper entitled "Bluebeard at breakfast: an unpublished Thackeray manuscript," at the conference of the Victorian Studies Association of Western Canada in Regina. The presentation included a dramatic reading of Thackeray's unpublished play about Bluebeard, which was performed by R.D. McMaster and C. Gordon Craig, both of the English Department.

■ Wayne A. Davies of the Department of Computing Science presented an invited paper entitled "Emerging technology—the future," at the Computers and the Law Seminar in Toronto on 25 and 26 September. The two-day seminar was presented by the Jurimetrics Committee of the Canadian Bar Association in cooperation with the Computer Law Association.

■ At the recent meetings of the Canadian Education Association held in Quebec City, Myer Horowitz, Vice-President (Academic), was elected to its Board of Directors.

NOTICES

Notices must reach the Editor by 9 a.m. the Thursday prior to publication. Written notification is necessary. Notices should be sent to Folio Notices, 423 Athabasca Hall.

Stop Sign Vandalism

Personnel Services and Staff Relations, University Occupational Health and Safety is working in conjunction with Alberta Transportation, Safety Branch, to promote a "Stop Sign Vandalism" campaign. Stop Sign Vandalism posters will be displayed in buildings across campus. Further information on this campaign as well as other safety matters will be available at the University "Safety Expo" to be held on Thursday, 2 November from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Central Academic Building.

Creative Clothing Contest

The University Art Gallery and Museum is planning the fourth annual Creative Clothing Contest. Those who have created their own clothing or sculptural wearables will exhibit them before the panel of judges as walking-wearing entries and will display their creations before the public on the following day. Judging will take place on Saturday, 3 March, in the Jubilee Auditorium, with the presentation before an audience to follow on Sunday, 4 March.

Winning entries in several categories will be exhibited at the University Art Gallery and Museum from 12 to 30 March.

The contest is open to everyone, and a wide variety of entries is anticipated, incorporating such techniques as silkscreen, batik, weaving, embroidery, quilting, tie-dye, and appliqué. Entries will be grouped into categories according to function, such as Fantasy, Sportswear, Ethnic-Historic, and so on. Applications must be submitted by 31 January 1979.

For further information, write to the Creative Clothing Coordinator, University Art Gallery and Museum, Ring House

University Staff are reminded that the pledge cards enabling them to donate to the United Appeal by way of a monthly deduction from their cheques should be sent to the Office of the Comptroller, Payroll Division.

Canada Savings Bonds

The following information has been received from the Office of the Comptroller, Payroll Division.

The Government of Canada has increased the interest rate for the 1978/79 Canada Savings Bond Series due to the recent increase in the Bank interest rates. The interest is increased to 9.25 percent for each year from the previous announced rates of 8.5 percent for the first year and 9 percent for the remaining six years. We have not as yet received the revised figures. However, the approximate value of a $100 Compound Interest Bond at this new rate will be as follows:

1 Nov	Value
1979	$109.25
1980	119.35
1981	130.38
1982	142.44
1983	155.61
1984	170.00
